

The Centre for Public Management (CPM) and the Institute of Executive Coaching (IEC) have established a strategic partnership to provide executive coaching programs and services to the public sector. Our leadership journey delivers targeted interventions for each of the critical stages that an Executive Level (EL) and the Senior Executive Service (SES) Level faces as he or she progresses through the organisation and its complexities. CPM's understanding of the public sector and the IEC's industry-leading coaching practice provides departments and agencies with a new approach to coaching.

Our Facilitators

You would rightly expect our coaches and facilitators to be world class and fully across our workshop content. Their special expertise is in creating and holding a learning space that generates a learning experience beyond the material itself. This is crucial to a learning experience that actually works.

Our Programs

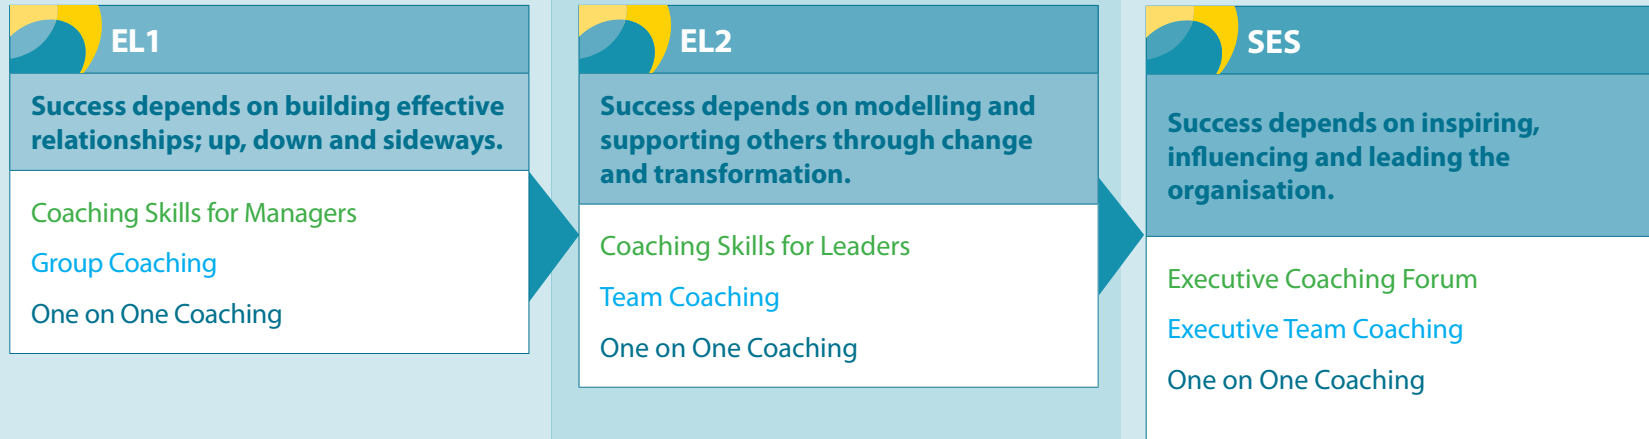

- Our programs are engaging, practical, highly interactive and relate to work place realities.
- Participants leave our programs already doing what it is they set out to learn about.
- Participants receive structured feedback on their skills and practices.
- Pre and post workshop activities embed learnings for sustainable results, in line with the latest neuroscience research.
- Our tried and tested core modules can be customised with optional additions to suit your requirements.

Our Client Service Team

- Our client service team provides exceptional service levels.
- Dealing with us is straightforward and client centred.

APS Leadership Journey

Assessment Tools and Organisational Data

Our experience and certification in a range of diagnostic and assessment tools. From self rated measures of type and preference, to 360 degree measures of behaviour and leadership style. We work with clients to incorporate individual and organisational data into the design of our corporate leadership development programs as well as individual coaching interventions.
